RAYMON MEYERS TINGLEY

As an expression of true appreciation of the vast amount of time and labor not only in searching out the many ancestral records but in tracing down the female lines, which have made this revision possible, this First Volume of THE TINGLEY FAMILY REVISED is dedicated to Raymon M. Tingley.

INTRODUCTION

More than one hundred years ago, Dr. Henry Tingley, No. 06-00071-11, began to collect a record of the early Tingleys. He was assisted by Samuel Tingley, No. 06-00006-03, and continued at this work, more or less, for many years, until old age and failing health forced him to relinquish the task. About that time Professor Jeremiah Tingley No. 07-00122-03, visited this part of the country. He had been looking up his ancestors in New Jersey and was much interested in the subject. Dr. Tingley, in hopes the Professor would complete what he had commenced, gave to him his record. This record the Professor promised to either publish or return. Many years have passed and gone; the Doctor has gone to his reward, the Professor, himself grown old and very feeble, has long ago given up all hopes of ever completing his task. The records are either scattered, lost or destroyed.

Raymon Meyers Tingley, No. 08-00854-01, compiler of "The Tingley Family" published in 1910, began many years ago to collect the record of his immediate relatives; first the descendants of his grandfather, and then of his great-grandfather Tingley, in both the male and female lines, something that had never before been attempted with the Tingley family. His work grew in size as it was carried back another generation or two.

In the Spring of 1906, fire destroyed a part of his record and in trying to replace it, he discovered that he had the only record of the early Tingleys that could be found in existence. Fearing that some calamity might overtake the remainder of his record, he resolved to have it printed; first bringing it down to date and making it as complete as possible.

With this end in view, he sent out a number of letters to distant relatives, asking them to help him in the work and to send whatever records they might possess and also to send him the addresses of others who might aid him in the work.

The result was amazing; letters poured in from all sides, not only containing records but also giving the address of persons before unknown to him. The work grew by leaps and bounds. In one year the amount of material had doubled; in another year it had doubled again. Many entire branches of the family before unknown to him were found, and he soon saw that he had a gigantic task before him. Already he had devoted to this work more time than he could well spare, and thus was obliged to bring his labors to a close, despite the fact that much remained to be found and recorded. Therefore, he submitted what he had, imperfect as it was, in hopes that it might prove to be of help to some more fortunate person, who in the future might write a more full and complete history of the Tingley race.

Raymon Tingley earnestly requested that anyone finding any mistakes in his records or having any additional records of any family of Tingley blood should communicate the same to him. Such additional information as was received he added to his author's copy in the hopes that he could revise his book at some future time, but if not, that someone else would have his notes available should the revision be undertaken.

In 1936, Raymon Tingley passed away without having had the time in which to revise his book, having only completed and published a second book in 1935. This second book was on Ancestral lines of his father. No one attempted to revise his work until in 1962 Raymon Tingley's notes were sent to Marian Frye by the Executor of his estate so she could undertake the revision which he had hoped some day would be made.

Much has been collected, many families have been found which were not located previously, but true and correct information on the very early Tingleys is very difficult to find. While the records still will not be complete in this revision, so much more has been found that it will be worth while to publish a revised Tingley book thus preserving the additional records which have been found.

When one has much information collected there is always the possibility that some catastrophe or calamity may happen to destroy it. This was brought home very forcibly on April 5th, 1969, when Marian Frye, with these records plus address files, special index of her records and the index of spouses, loaded in her Opel Station Wagon started for Ohio to spend Easter with her daughter's family and then to Michigan to do some research necessary to connect some more families.

While still in Virginia, less than ten miles from her home, the road appeared clear, it was about 12:15 noon, on Saturday before Easter, with the car ahead traveling less than 60 m.p.h. in a 65 m.p.h. zone, Marian Frye signaled to overtake the car ahead. Just as she pulled into the other lane to pass, a little Volkswagen which had apparently been traveling in the blind spot of her car, sounded its horn. Startled by the blast since she had seen no car behind her, she jerked her car to the right to allow the VW as much room as possible for his passing. Her Opel swerved, went out of control, turned completely over and came to rest right side up atop the guard rail on the right side of the road but headed in the opposite direction from which she had been traveling. There was no collision with either car and both of these cars continued on their way without stopping.

Next car which came along stopped to give aid - they had seen her car swerve but were too far away to know what had caused it. Marian Frye had a cut on left side of her head which was bleeding but she was not concerned about that - she was concerned about all her papers which were scattered over the highway and wanted to help pick them up but folks from the other car wouldn't let her. They set about to pick up the papers but insisted that she sit in her car and wait for the officer.

When the officer arrived he waved his arms and shouted "leave the papers right there - don't pick up anything! " Marian Frye could not let that happen so she told the officer that she had to have all those papers - that they are records of families, many of whom are deceased and the records could not be replaced, that many were of folks 80 and 90 years of age who could not be expected to send their records again and there is a publication date - a deadline to meet and no time to try to collect the data again. Whereupon the officer stopped traffic and every piece was picked up and put into her car. Suppose she had been unconscious and not been able to tell the officer how important those papers were and that she had to have them, every one -- ALL would have been lost!

Meanwhile the ambulance arrived and Marian Frye was rushed off to the Fairfax Hospital where two stitches were taken to close the wound in her head. Her bruised elbow and wrist were X-rayed, no bones broken so she was released about 3 P.M. A neighbor was summoned, came, and took her home. Being so concerned about her records which were still scattered over the highway when she was whisked away, she was not aware of a tiny piece of glass probably in or near the corner of her left eye, on the underside of the lid.

Upon leaving the hospital, came the problem of getting her things home from her wrecked car as it had rained some after she had been taken to the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Fankhauser, her daughter's in-laws, recently home from Trinidad, came and took her to her car which had been towed to an Esso Station. Her car was a total wreck! Officer said that the only thing which had kept her from being thrown onto the pavement with the contents of her car and killed, was her seat belt. Glass was gone from front and rear and all along right side of her car so rain had dampened some of the records and some were wrinkled, only one was torn but all three pieces had been picked up so she was able to copy that record. "ALL THE RECORDS WERE SAVED!" But! What a close call! All the records could have been lost!

By Monday afternoon she had the records separated into their respective groups, although not yet in order, she knew all were there. Then, her eye began to bother - it had become swollen and turned black and blue. Back to the hospital that night to have the glass removed. In the emergency room the doctor without checking underside of lid said "there is no glass in it" and he taped it shut telling her to be sure to see her eye doctor next day without fail as it had two scratches across the cornea, and thus needed to be watched closely. He said it would still feel as if glass were there because of the scratches.

Next A.M. Marian Frye was at the eye doctor's office before the doctor arrived. He took her first and said "the cornea is badly chewed". So! Glass was still there! The lid was so badly swollen that he had trouble trying to hang onto it while trying to roll it back. It slipped from his grasp and the piece of glass left with his thumb and finger but he did not see it although Marian Frye felt it go.

The eye surgeon taped it shut after treating it and this time it felt more comfortable. It was watched closely until nearly healed and vision was restored. Then it has to wait a month before new glasses can be fitted. At the time of preparing this INTRODUCTION all is well - just waiting for the time to arrive for the fitting of new glasses.

After this experience with the records, Marian Frye has decided to interrupt her research until the material she has is typed and ready for the printer so her records will be preserved. Her records are being numbered in such a manner that additions can be made at any time without upsetting the numbering scheme. If there isn't time to do the research to connect all families before the publication date of Volume I, the additional research can be done later and records can be printed in a supplement to Volume I and included in Volume II with the ninth generation.

The name Tingley is a local name in Yorkshire, England. Whether the family gave the name to the town or the town to the family, is not known but at the present time there is not even one family of name Tingley living in the town of Tingley according to the postmaster there. The name is not common in England today, but there are still representatives of it here and there to be found at the present time. In fact, Dr. Paul Roy Tingley of our Canadian branch born in Canada, is practising medicine as is also his son, Dr. Paul G. Tingley, both in Salford, England. They have been contacted but there has been no reply from them or from Dr. Paul Roy Tingley's daughter.

Palmer Tingley, the first of the name to come to America was a good churchman, as the certificate he brought with him showed. His given name, Palmer, was doubtless derived from the family of Palmers, who lived near Kingston on Thames. An old family, and he may have been related.

Marian Frye had a search made at the College of Arms for information on a Tingley Coat of Arms but none could be found and nothing concerning Palmer Tingley or his parents without additional research which is costly and no assurance that any record is available. Palmer may have come from elsewhere via England. However, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, while visiting her home town in England in the Fall of 1968 made inquiries and obtained a picture of the beautiful Tingley Mansion there which may or may not have any connection with Palmer Tingley.

It is very disappointing that no record of Palmer's death or marriage can be found and that there is no proof of his being Samuel's father. Although New England has been searched so many times by historians and genealogists, still from time to time new records are being brought to light and published. It is hoped that at some future time even this mystery will be explained to the satisfaction of us all.

Wyman searched all the available records in preparing his Genealogy and Estates of Charlestown, Mass., and it is doubtful if any further information can be found.

The will of widow Barrett is the most important proof we have in regard to the early Tingleys. She died in 1681 and her will states that she "bequeathed to her grandchildren, Samuel and Thomas Tingley and to her daughter Hannah Scolley's two children, ...". This proves that she was Samuel's mother since Samuel and Thomas were children of her son, Samuel Tingley. Her father was Stephen Fosdick, who came from Lincolnshire, England, prior to 1635 and settled in Charlestown, Mass., with his children and his second wife. Anna or Hannah, as she was sometimes called, was born about 1615 and as her oldest child by Barrett was born in 1644, there is ample time for her to have had another husband and child before her marriage to Barrett. Some of her descendants by James Barrett are still to be found in New Hampshire and Vermont, and doubtless the Barretts of Susquehanna County, Pa., are of this family.

Samuel was married Sept. 20, 1663, doubtless when young. He soon died, Dec. 28, 1666, leaving a son, Samuel, and the next July another son was born, named Thomas, after his grandfather Call.

This Thomas Call came from Faversham, Kent, England, in 1636, with his wife, Bennett, and children. After the death of Bennett, Thomas married Joanna, widow of Daniel Shepardson, a neighbor at Charlestown, Mass. A son of Thomas' married a daughter of Daniel Shepardson and after the death of Samuel Tingley, his widow, Elizabeth, married Daniel Shepardson, Jr. Thus the two families became almost identical.

The whole family left Charlestown for Attleboro in 1691. Attleboro was then a frontier fort against the Indians, on the road from Boston and Plymouth to the Providence Plantations. It was in the town of Rehoboth, but so near the Providence line, that the church doctrines of that Colony prevailed and the Shepardsons and Tingleys became staunch Baptists, and the majority of them adhere to that belief to this day.

As Daniel Shepardson, Jr., was the only one of the Shepardsons who left sons, all the Shepardsons in America are supposed to be descendants of Elizabeth Call-Tingley and her second husband, Daniel, Jr. Thus she became the common mother of all the Tingleys and Shepardsons in America. Dr. Francis Wayland Shepardson, of the University of Chicago, collected data of the Shepardson family for many years.

Samuel Tingley, the second, married Martha, maiden name unknown. He married her before he came to Attleboro and no record of the marriage has been found. Four children are all that have been found for him -- a daughter, Martha, who married Joseph Allen and three sons, Samuel, Daniel, and Ebenezer.

Thomas Tingley married Esther Stevens of Rehoboth. Her paternal grandfather, Francis Stevens, was one of the original proprietors of Rehoboth North Purchase, afterwards Attleboro, and her maternal grandfather, Gilbert Brooks, came in the ship Blessing and was one of the founders of Scituate, Mass. Esther had three sisters and two brothers, but Raymon Tingley failed to find any trace of any of their descendants. Four children are all that have been found for Thomas. One daughter, Elizabeth, who, strange to say, died single at the age of 73 -- something not often known in that age, and, besides, she was an heiress of considerable estate. There were three sons, Timothy, Ephraim and Thomas. Thomas, Jr., died in his 22nd year.

In the next generation, Samuel the third married Hannah Pidge of Dedham and had, first, Samuel, who had a large family of twelve and whose descendants may still be found at Attleboro and vicinity; second, Daniel for whom four children have been found - three daughters and only one son. It is more difficult to trace children of the female lines; third, Benjamin, died in his 16th year; fourth, Hannah, who married Elkanah Lane and through her daughter, Luse Carpenter, left a numerous progeny in Pennsylvania and the West. Her other children's descendants have been more difficult to find; fifth and sixth, Martha and Esther, of whom nothing is known, and seventh, Josiah, a soldier of the French War and for his services obtained a grant of a part of the land confiscated by the British in Acadia. At the time of the Revolution he was apparently a staunch Royalist. The Rebels drove his family into the woods, where his son, Agreen, was born, but the Loyalists rallying, they conquered the Rebels and thus saved Nova Scotia for the Crown. Raymon Tingley failed to get a very complete record of some of his descendants, as many of them had scattered over the western part of Canada and the United States and thus were presumed lost. It was also difficult to get replies from those left at home. During this revision much progress has been made on this Canadian branch although much still remains to be done.

The next one in the fourth generation was Daniel, who left Attleboro for New York City. A letter from him, dated 1732, addressed to his brother Samuel, tells that he had been the father of twelve children, all of whom were dead except Samuel, a sea captain, and Elizabeth, who married David Cox. One descendant of hers so far has been found, David, Jr., who married Rachel Lisk. Of the children of Samuel, the sea captain, two have been found - Samuel, a clergyman of the Church of England, some say a graduate of Oxford. He became noted as the Rector of St. George's Episcopal Church of Lewes, Delaware, during the Revolution. His sister, Catherine, was the wife of David Hall, Governor of Delaware. Their descendants are found in Philadelphia, Pa. and Baltimore, Md. and vicinities.

The next of the fourth generation was Ebenezer, who followed his brother Daniel and settled in New Jersey. The immediate descendants of Ebenezer were difficult to find trace of, although Raymon Tingley employed the services of a skilled genealogist, and the records located were very confusing. The sons of Ebenezer named many of their children the same names, which added to the confusion. Many of these served in the Revolution and for their services accepted lands in Ohio, Western New York, and Pennsylvania. Their descendants are scattered over all of the Western States, and many were hard for Raymon Tingley to find and now their descendants are difficult to connect in their proper places because earlier records were not obtained. Various local histories are filled with wrong information concerning their ancestors, taken from tradition.

Census records and pension files have been used in making connections in the lines of Ebenezer's descendants and many have been fitted into place and many more are still in the process of being connected. It is hoped that descendants will help in trying to find their proper connection so records can be carried forward in subsequent volumes.

Of the children of Timothy, the first, Thomas, married Martha Day of Attleboro and nearly all of his children came to Pennsylvania following the great immigration from Attleboro, Mass., to Harford, Pa., except Patty Pierce, of whose descendants more is wanted. The second, Pelatiah, became a noted preacher and left descendants in Maine and Ohio. The daughters married into prominent Attleboro families; the descendants of the sons, Araunah and Nathan, are still to be found in Massachusetts.

The last of the fourth generation was Ephraim of Coventry, R.I. He had a family of seven daughters and two sons. Raymon Tingley found but one family descended from one son. But! Again - the daughters' families are more difficult to trace - one has to depend on being informed by the descendants.

In the words of Raymon Tingley - "I wish to thank all who have assisted in this work. While some have done more than others, still all have done what they could and so are deserving of equal thanks." I wish to thank you not only for the records but for the many letters of cheer and encouragement, which have spurred me on to gather more and more data so our new book will be ever so much more complete than our 1910 Tingley book.

It is my wish that this volume may give as much pleasure to its readers as it did to me in compiling it.

Anyone finding any mistakes in these records or having additional records of any family of Tingley blood, is earnestly requested to communicate the same to the compiler of this revision, Mrs. Marian M. Frye, 6535 Williams Walk, Falls Church, Virginia, 22042, so they may be added in volumes to follow.

"A painful work it is and more than difficult, wherein what toyle hath been taken, as no man thinketh, so no man believeth, but he that hath made the trial." -- Anthony A. Wood.

Note - In a few instances in the later generations, some have requested that a first marriage be omitted. If no children are involved their request has been granted.

FIRST GENERATION

01-00001

00-00000-00 PALMER TINGLEY, of Ipswich, Mass., born in 1614, miller, age 21 years, came from Kingston-on-Thames, England, sailed on ship Planter, from Port of London, April 8, 1635[1]. He was in Ipswich in 1639, when he received a grant of eight acres in reward for his services in the war against the Pequot Indians in 1637[2]. No record can be found of his death or marriage. He is claimed as the husband of Anna Fosdick, because he is the only person of the name Tingley living in the Colonies at that time of suitable age to be her husband. He brought with him a certificate from the minister of Kingston-on-Thames, stating that he was no subsidy man, and testifying to his conformity[3]. He is supposed to have married, between 1635-1638, Anna or Hannah, daughter of Stephen Fosdick of Charlestown, Mass., who came from Lincolnshire, England, to Charlestown, Mass., in 1635 with his children and his second wife, Sarah Wetherell[4]. Anna was born in 1615 and died in 1681. She married for her second husband, James Barrett, of Charlestown. She had by him seven children but only six are given here: James, Mary (Mrs. John Ross), Hannah (Mrs. John Scolley), Stephen, John and Sarah (Mrs. Simon Grover). Hannah Barrett's will states that she bequeathed to her grandchildren, Samuel and Thomas Tingley, and to her daughter Hannah Scolley's two children, etc. Thus she must have been Samuel Tingley's mother[4].

Child

01 Samuel, b. before 1638[5]; 02-00001.

SECOND GENERATION

02-00001

01-00001-01 SAMUEL TINGLEY[2] (Palmer[1]), of Malden, Mass. born before 1638, at Charlestown, Mass.[5]; died Dec. 28, 1666, at Malden, Mass.; married Sep. 20, 1663, at , Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas and Bennett (Harrison) Call[6], of Charlestown, Mass., born Feb. 21, 1640, baptized Dec. 21, 1640, at Charlestown, Mass.[5]; died Feb. 21, 1715/16, at Attleboro, Mass.[7] Thomas Call came from Favorsham, County of Kent, England in 1636. Elizabeth married for her second husband, April 11, 1668[8], Daniel Shepardson, of Malden, Mass., son of Daniel and Joanna Shepardson, baptized June 14, 1641; died Aug. 3, 1723. They had six children: Daniel, John Nathaniel, Jonathan, Mary (Mrs. Joseph Ingraham), Elizabeth (Mrs. Robert Fuller) and Joanna (Mrs. John Fuller). They all went to Attleboro, Mass., about 1691.

Children

01 Samuel, b. Dec. , 1665[9]; 03-00001.
02 Thomas, b. July , 1667[9]; 03-00002.

THIRD GENERATION

03-00001

02-00001-01 SAMUEL TINGLEY[3] (Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Rehoboth, Mass.[5], born Dec. , 1665, at Malden, Mass.[9]; died , 1714, at Attleboro, Mass.; married , Martha, daughter of and ( ) of , born , 1668, at ; died , at .

Children

01 Martha, b. Sep. 26, 168 [10]; 04-00001.
02 Samuel, b. Oct. 6, 1689[10]; 04-00002.
03 Daniel, b. , 1692[10]; 04-00003.
04 Ebenezer, b. , 1694[10]; 04-00004.

03-00002

02-00001-02 THOMAS TINGLEY[3](Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Attleboro, Mass.[5], born July , 1667, at Malden, Mass.[10]; died Sep. 23, 1724, in his 58th year, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; married Aug. 14, 1694[11], Esther[14], daughter of Francis and Elizabeth (Brooks) Stevens, of Rehoboth, Mass., born June , 1671, at Rehoboth, Mass.; died Aug. 16, 1724, in her 53rd year, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]. Thomas held many town offices, as Selectman, Assessor and Treasurer. Was baptized into the Rehoboth Church Apr. 17, 1709. Both are buried in South Attleboro, Mass.

Children

01 Elizabeth, b. June 10, 1695[12]; d. Jan. 6, 1768[7]; never married.
02 Timothy, b. Oct. 3, 1697[12]; 04-00005.
03 Ephraim, b. Mar. 6, 1700[12]; 04-00006.
04 Thomas, b. Apr. 6, 1703[12]; d. June 15, 1724[12] in his 22nd year; buried in So. Attleboro, Mass.

FOURTH GENERATION

04-00001

03-00001-01 MARTHA TINGLEY-ALLEN[4] (Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Rehoboth, Mass., born Sep. 26, 168 , at Attleboro, Mass.[10]; died , at ; married Sep. 15, 1703, at Rehoboth, Mass.[11], Joseph, son of and ( ) Allen, of , born , at ; died at

04-00002

03-00001-02 SAMUEL TINGLEY[4] (Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Attleboro, Mass.[5], born Oct. 6, 1689, at Rehoboth, Mass.[10]; died June 24, 1765, age 75 years, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; married first, Dec. 15, 1713, at Attleboro, Mass.[12], Hannah, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Newcomb) Pidge, of Dedham, Mass., born Nov. 22, 1686, at Dedham, Mass.; died Apr. 17, 1763, in her 77th year, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; married second, Dec. 11, 1764, by Abiel Brown (J.P.), at , R. I.[15], Jemima, daughter of and ( ) Staples, of , widow of James Streeter, of Cumberland, R. I.[16], born , at ; died , at . Samuel was a marble cutter and farmer. He was Selectman from 1741-43. He is buried in South Attleboro, Mass. Jemima married third, Feb. 20, 1768, John Robinson.

Children

01 Samuel, b. June 23, 1714[10]; 05-00001.
02 Daniel, b. Feb. 21, 1716[12]; 05-00002.
03 Benjamin, b. Nov. 19, 1718[12]; d. June 15, 1734, in his 16th year.
04 Hannah, b. June 16, 1721[12]; 05-00003.
05 Martha, b. June 8, 1724[12];
06 Esther, b. Apr. 27, 1728[12];
07 Josiah, b. Dec. 31, 1730[12]; 05-00004.

NOTE: Marriage as given by Raymon Tingley for Esther 06 to Samuel Dunsmore does not give Esther's surname - it is doubtful that it is Tingley.[12]

04-00003

03-00001-03 DANIEL TINGLEY[4] (Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of New York, N. Y., born , 1692, at Rehoboth, Mass.[10]; died , 1734, at New York, N. Y.; married , 1712, at , daughter of and ( ) , of , born , at ; died at . Daniel was a Sea Captain.

Children

01 Samuel, b. , 1712 ; 05-00005.
02 Elizabeth, b. , 1714 ; 05-00006.

There were ten more children, who were all dead before 1732 according to the letter Daniel wrote his brother Samuel, dated Nov. 17, 1732.

04-00004

03-00001-04 EBENEZER TINGLEY[4](Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Swansea, Mass., and Borough of Elizabeth, Somerset Co., N. J., born , 1694, at Rehoboth, Mass.[10]; died July 28, 1766, in Somerset Co., N. J.; married , Elizabeth Eunice, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Holland) Gray of Woodbridge, N. J.[13], born Feb. 25, 1698[20], at ; died , at . He sold his interest in his father's farm to his brother Samuel, Jan. 18, 1715/16. In 1761 he was Justice of the Peace, Somerset Co., N. J.[66]

Supplied by Leona Gay Tingley-Brewer from Autobiography of Lydia B. Sexton, published by the United Brethren Publishing House, Dayton, Ohio, 1885:

"Joseph Tingley and his family were driven from their home by the Hessians. Christian, his wife, and children with their servants took refuge in Schooley's Mountains. Joseph Tingley took his two oldest boys, Ebenezer and Jeremiah, and equipping themselves with flint-lock muskets, powder horns, home spun blankets, etc., set out for the headquarters of General Washington, not far distant. Approaching General Washington, he took off his hat and put it under his arm. Addressing the General he said, 'I believe I have the honor of being in the presence of General Washington'. The General replied, 'My name is George Washington. Put on your hat, daddy'. 'I came to offer you my service and that of my sons, such as it is, to help in this struggle', said grandfather Tingley. 'NOBLE OFFERING. Fall in ranks there and at roll call report your names', directed the General.

"The Hessians had taken possession of their house and barn for headquarters, who, on leaving it, left only the bare walls."

Samuel Tingley, Rector of St. Peters Episcopal Church, at Lewes, Del.[92], David, son of David and Mary Magdalene (Kollock) Hall, born Jan. 4, 1752, at Lewes, Del.[53]; died Sep. 18, 1817, at Lewes, Del.[53] He was a Colonel in the American Revolution[52]; a Member of the Order of the Cincinnati, an Elder of the Presbyterian Church and 4th Governor of the State of Delaware (1802-05), also Judge. He married second Sarah Polk.

David Hall House opposite Zwaanendael House, on King's Hwy. was the house of David Hall, Governor of Delaware 1802 to 1805, was shingled and painted gray. It consisted of a tall main section and a lower wing. In 1968 this house was painted white and is one of the best preserved old homes in Lewes.[160]

"Col. David Hall was admitted to the Bar Aug. 18, 1773, in New Castle Co., Del. He enlisted as a Private and recruited a Company whereupon he was made Captain of the Company Jan. 15, 1776. He subsequently recruited the celebrated Delaware Line Regiment Apr. 5, 1777 and was made its Colonel. They participated at Brandywine, Germantown and Monmouth and were with George Washington at Valley Forge and during the remainder of the war, fought in important battles, doing distinguished service in various lines of duty and they earned a reputation second to no other troops in the Continental Army, Colonel Hall was wounded at Brandywine (Heitman says at the Battle of Germantown), Oct. 4, 1777." (From Officers of the Continental Army F 205).

"At the close of the war he resumed the practice of law in his native town and in 1802 was elected Governor of the State, on the Democratic Ticket. He filled the office with great credit, continuing until 1805. Ex Governor Hall was soon after made one of the Judges of Delaware, under the Constitution of 1792, which position he adorned by his learning, ability, and integrity. When in the Army, he slept in the same tent with Washington and corresponded with him afterward. Picture of Washington, which has ever since hung in the State House at Dover, was presented to the State by the Governor. He died at Lewes, Del., Sep. 18, 1817. His wife was Catherine Tingley of New York. His son Joseph was admitted to the Bar, Oct. 10, 1809, but died soon after in early manhood. (From Scharf's History of Delaware, Vol. I, Folio 210)."

"His regiment was known as the Famous Delaware Regiment and was mustered out Nov. 30, 1778. He died in 1817 and is buried in the Presbyterian Graveyard at Lewes, Del." (taken from the typewritten manuscript filed in the Archives at Dover, Del., entitled "Hall & Allied Families." Both are buried in the Presbyterian Churchyard at Lewes, Del.[53]

Levi, a Revolutionary soldier[68], came to Tate Twp. in 1804 and settled one mile south of Bethel, where, in 1806, he built a tannery and carried on that business until his death. This account was also given in the History of Clermont Co., Ohio, by J. L. Rocky & R. J. Bancroft, pub. 1880, as follows: "In the same neighborhood, Poplar Creek, the same year, 1804, from New Jersey, settled Levi Tingley, also a Revolutionary soldier. In 1806 he commenced a small tanning business, and carried it on until his death, in 1832. His sons were Jacob and Benjamin. The former died at sea. The latter served in the War of 1812, and for many years lived near Bantam, where he carried on a tannery. In 1836 he moved to Indiana. Benjamin and Jonathan Tingley, another son, became property holders and soon after moved to Tate Twp.

"First tanyard mentioned in County records was operated in 1811 by Levi and Benjamin Tingley, near Bethel."

J., at age 68 yrs. A note in the pension file, written by Ben Dixon, stated that Lemuel was his great-great grandfather who for his Rev. War service in Morris Co., N. J. received a land grant in western New York and he thought Lemuel had probably died there at Lockport, N. Y. Ben also thought Nathan (or Nathaniel), father of Lemuel had Rev. War service in N. J. & that John Tingley[323] drew a pension for service in War of 1812 - "lived many years at New Matamoras, (Eastern Ohio) and died there." Lemuel enlisted at Mendham, N. J. in May 1778, joined the army June 5, 1778, served as Private in Capt. Jeremiah Ballard's Co., Col. Dayton's Regt. (N. J.) and was in Battles of Crosswich and Monmouth and was discharged Mar. 5, 1779. He served in the Western Battalion and also in Continental Army[36].

05-00016-01 RHODA TINGLEY-STEARNS[6] (Thomas[5], Timothy[4], Thomas[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Pleasant Mount, Pa., born Aug.17, 1755, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; died Dec. 21, 1837, at Mount Pleasant, Pa.[24]; married Dec. 1, 1774, at Attleboro, Mass.[12], Joseph, son of Capt. John and Rebecca (Dean) Stearns, of Attleboro, Mass.; (grandson of John Dean of Dedham, Mass.), born Oct. 7, 1751, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; died June 2, 1829, at Mount Pleasant, Pa.[24] Both are buried in Evergreen Cemetery at Mount Pleasant, Pa. In 1783 Joseph moved his family from Attleboro, Mass., to Tolland, Conn., and in 1793 to Mount Pleasant, Pa. (Wayne Co.). Joseph was a soldier and pensioner of the Revolution. He enlisted five times. His father, Capt. John, looked after his wife and children while he fought in the war. He was plowing in the field, when word came of the Battle of Lexington and Concord. He left the ox team and started for the battle scene, but the battle was over by the time he reached there. He helped sink the British ship Roebuck at Hellgate.[325]

Shortly after the close of the Revolutionary War the great migration from the New England states into Northeastern Pennsylvania began.

On March 5, 1792, Joseph Stearns and Jirah Mumford arrived in Pleasant Mount. At this time Northern Wayne County and Susquehanna County were unsettled and mostly primitive. Joseph was the first Stearns and Jirah the first Mumford to settle in Northeastern Pennsylvania and thus the two vast families were founded here.

Joseph and Jirah each brought an ox team and an ox sled. Joseph brought his two sons, James and Otis, and a hired man. Jirah brought his twelve year old son and two hired men. They were on their way to the newly formed "Nine Partner Settlement" in Harford, Susquehanna County. There were only three or so families in the Pleasant Mount vicinity at that time. Joseph and Jirah decided to stay at Pleasant Mount for a while. Provisions were short and Joseph walked to the primitive settlement of Harmony (now Lanesboro) and carried back two bushels of grain on his back.

Later in the spring, Joseph and his two sons went on to the Harford settlement. Here they cleared land on the Nine Partner's Tract near a spring west of the present village. In the fall of 1792, Joseph returned to Connecticut for his wife and other children. That same fall he brought his family back to Pleasant Mount.

That summer Jirah Mumford had stayed in Pleasant Mount and rolled up a log cabin. He returned to Connecticut for the winter and that winter Joseph and his family lived in the cabin. This was an extremely hard winter for the few settlers at Pleasant Mount. No land had been cleared in time to plant crops and wild game was the only meat. Many tales can be told of the hardships of these first winters.

In the spring of 1793, Mumford returned to Pleasant Mount and Joseph moved his family into a cabin that had been built by Elijah Dix. That summer Joseph cleared land nearby and built a cabin. This became the farm on which he spent the remainder of his life. This farm was at the northeast edge of Pleasant Mount Village on the old Stockport Road. It was later owned by Neah Crittenden and J. W. Monroe.[81] See Ref. 325.

Joseph died in 1829 and Rhoda in 1837. They are buried in Evergreen Cemetery at Mount Pleasant. The monument on their grave, erected by a grandson, David Wooster Stearns, reads:

Child by Second Wife[49]

08 Joseph Benjamin, b. Dec. 15, 1858; 08-00145.

Since George's family bible was destroyed in a house fire, at which time he also lost his wife (burned to death) no record has been found showing his connection. In those early days, a young man often left home and worked in lumber camps, wandering from one place to another. Girls went to work as servants in other homes and boys did this also.

There is a generation gap between records given in The Tingley Family, published in 1910, and the 1851 census records of Canada. Records have been found for most of Tingley name in this seventh generation except for Benjamin's older children and his oldest brother Daniel (his marriage and his family). His brother William had a large family of boys and went to Nova Scotia before the first census of New Brunswick, so it is easy to assume that a son of Benjamin could also have gone to Nova Scotia. George is found there with his wife and children in the first census record of Nova Scotia, 1871. William had a son George but he is accounted for, with proof.

Since writing the above, the following written by an elderly man has been received: "Now re- George Tingley's father, I can only pass along a story told me by my father.

"When we lived in B. C., my father got well acquainted with Stephen Tingley who came from Sackville, N. B. He, Stephen Tingley, claimed some relationship with George and told my father that George, as near as I can recall, was a cousin of his. I am sorry that I am unable to give you anything more definite." Therefore, it is assumed that George was a grandson of William's and his record will thus be found as 08-00141 but as a grandson of 06-00024.

In 1861, census, only his second wife and young son Ben are shown with him. However, the 1871 census shows his son Thomas, a saddler, still single, with Benjamin, his second wife, and young son Ben. At age 71, Benjamin probably needed the help of his older son Thomas.

Birth and death records were not kept until it was required by law. In a few cases some were filed voluntarily. The 1820 census showed Joseph with a wife, one son and one daughter. The 1830 census shows the mother as head. In the 1840 census no Tingley remains - Hannah either had died or remarried. Joseph was Editor of the Harrison Telegraph, County Newspaper. The 1850 census is the first census which names all members of the household. Before 1850 only the head of a family is named.

Daniel G. Tingley 03 enrolled Nov. 7, 1861, at Askum, Ill., for service in Civil War, was mustered in Dec. 25, 1861, at Camp Douglas as a private in Capt. Smith's Co. C 58th Regt. of Ill. Vol., under Capt. George W. Kittle. He deserted Aug. 6, 1862 (probably to help on the farm - harvest time - as most of his father's family consisted of girls, thus a hardship was created with him in service). He was charged $35, the expense of arrest and transportation. He re-enlisted Jan. 1, 1864, was admitted to Post Hospital, Montgomery, Ala., Sep. 26, 1865, and died of "incised wound" at Paducah, Ky., Sep. 29, 1865. Upon his death, his father, John H., received his pay from Mar. 1, 1865 to Sep. 29, 1865, date of Daniel's death. The charge of desertion has not been removed. The file also states that his parents were married in Greene Co., Ohio[133]. His brother, Orlando Hackett's name was not given in the list of children in his file but he is shown in the census record as a child in this same family[70].

"When a young man Andrew Kinkade left Pennsylvania and started farming near Woodsfield, Ohio. He attended the Gala Festivities accompanying the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825, at Lockport, N.Y. There he met Nancy Tingley, the charming daughter of Lemuel Tingley, a veteran of the Revolutionary War. True to the traditions of his Scotch wit, he called her Ann "for short", and she was ever after known as Ann Tingley and her brother John, a veteran of the War of 1812, left Lockport for Woodsfield, Ohio, where she and Andrew Kinkade were married May 12, 1802 [?]; she died Nov. 30, 1881. It is thought that she willingly lost herself in the Ohio wilderness and never saw her family again. But she kept in her heart the thoughts of her family by bestowing Tingley names upon three of her sons: Ebenezer, the first born, Araunah, and Benjamin Kinkade. Her grave, without a marker, is in the Barber Cemetery near Woodsfield, Ohio.

"Andrew Kinkade desired very much to possess a Kinkade homestead of considerable extent somewhere in Virginia. It's location, or to whom it originally belonged is not known to the writer. In the remembrance of C. A. Kinkade (page 124) he made a trip to Virginia to investigate the land's status; he offered each of the ten heirs $30.00 for a quit-claim. But they held out for $300.00, and he gave it up as too expensive." (page 9)[136]. He was one of the first settlers in Bethel Twp.[236]

06-00056-12 EVI TINGLEY[7] (Lemuel[6], Nathaniel[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Sanilac Co., Mich., born 1812, near Buffalo, N. Y.; died , 1892, at Sanilac Co., Mich.; married , 185 , near Fort Erie, Ont., Amelia, daughter of and ( ) Bosley, widow of John Hopper, of Chatham, Ont., born , at , Canada; died , at ; both are buried in Hyslop Cemetery, at Elmer Twp., Sanilac Co., Mich. Mrs. Hopper had two daughters and a son by a previous marriage. Her son used the name John Tingley. Her daughters married and remained in Canada[140].

Children[24]

01 Franklin P., b. 1853; never married.
02 Evi A., b. 1855; never married.
03 Elkanah, b. Apr. 2, 1858; 08-00707.
04 Amelia, b. ; never married.

They were raised at Grand Bend, Ont., Canada, and came to Michigan about 1875. John Hopper, alias John Tingley, married a de Rosa girl and raised a family under the name of Tingley, according to Elmer and Blanche Tingley. Elmer's father, Elkanah, 03, above was a half-brother to this John Hopper - alias John Tingley.

Little is known of the three children who never married. They moved to Nebraska in the 1890's where Amelia passed away. Evi went to Montana and Wyoming where he was a sheep herder; not heard from since. Franklin went to St. Ignatius, Montana, and died there about 1938, and is buried in a cemetery in St. Ignatius, Mont.[140]

Howard Gault, a descendant of John Hopper, alias John Tingley, exchanged pictures and Elmer says, "he sent a picture of Evi Tingley and I have to claim Evi as my uncle, as the pictures are the same and taken about the same time. Frank and Evi's pictures look like twins".

From Howard Gault, "Uncle Evi, as we called him died at about 91 years of age, about 1952 and is buried near my parents in the Wenatchee Cemetery, Wenatchee, Wash. He spent a good share of his last years as a gold prospector in the State of Washington."

The following extract was taken from Whaley's History of Mount Pleasant, by the great granddaughter of Ashbel

Stearns who was the mother of the present compiler of these records; she thought it would be of interest as a reminder of the past: "Joseph Stearns, Ashbel's father, had a family of eight children. On one occasion he was so reduced for food that he went to Great Bend (some 40 odd miles) and purchased two bushel of wheat, had it ground and brought it home on his back.

"At another time he was destitute of meat which was greatly needed to endure the hard work required to lay the forest. Weakened by toil he was much cast down by his lot here in the wilderness. His wife (formerly Miss Rhoda Tingley) was a devoted pious woman and endeavored to encourage him by referring to that overruling providence which had directed them here and would still protect. Her confidence increasing as she dwelt upon this subject, she arose and said to her husband, now I will hang the pot over the fire and I believe the Lord will fill it. Her confidence was not mistaken for before the water boiled a fawn, apparently frightened, entered the field where her boys were at work. They chased it a few rods and easily captured it in a thicket of bushes, where Mr. Asa Smith's tannery now stands. As they joyfully entered the cabin door the father remembered the words of encouragement and faith so recently spoken and resolved no more to distrust God.

"On another occasion this good woman when her husband and older sons had gone to work, went out to the woods where they had been making sugar, to gather some sap that was wasting. Having no one to leave her infant son with, she took him with her. She made a cradle of a sap trough and laid him down by the side of a large log. While busy here and there gathering sap she looked toward the child and saw an enormous bear upon the log looking down into the innocent face and in the very act of grabbing him in his extended jaws. The old dog flew to his rescue. That child is now Mr. Ashbel Stearns who lives in this vicinity. Not long after this she had been over to Mr. Stanton's place on a visit with the same infant with her, also her son Otis, then a young lad who was carrying the infant as they were crossing a rivulet in the rear of the present residence of Mr. Jonathan Miller, a large bear came out of the bush and stood directly in front of them in the foot path, but that faithful dog, Carlo, rushed upon the bear who speedily retreated. The red man still lurked in ambush and the bear, panther and wolf roamed unmolested when Mr. Whaley related the above. In 1831, Mr. Ashbel Stearns removed from Mount Pleasant to Clinton where he has lived for the past 51 years. In Aug. 1879 he had a shock or stroke of paralysis; from that time on until his death he has been confined the most of the time to his home. Notwithstanding his confinement and helplessness, he was cheerful and patient to the last and it was a pleasure to go and spend an hour in his company hearing him tell of the changes that have taken place in this section during his life, the companion of his youth still lives. The funeral was largely attended at the Aldenville Baptist Church conducting the services. In the discourse, the Rev. James Remson said 'we find from the records that Ashbel was a direct descendant, the sixth generation, of Isaac Stearns who came to New England in 1630 along with Governor Winthrop and Sir Richard Saltonstall and founded the city of Boston, afterwards settling in Watertown, Mass.' The 5th of March 1792 Joseph Stearns, father of Ashbel arrived in Mount Pleasant Township from Connecticut. With his sons, James and Otis, in the early fall he returned to Connecticut and brought his wife and the six other children and commenced the endurance and hardship of pioneer life. At this early period Wayne Co. was a wilderness with the exception of a settlement Milanville on the Delaware. Mr. Ashbel Stearns died Monday morning March 13, 1882, living to see Wayne County develop from a forest to its present condition, growth of the Union from thirteen colonies to the greatest nation in the world, during the administration of our 21 presidents but now that mighty tree which has stood so long as a sentinel of the past is fallen to moulder away to its original elements and brother Stearns' book is written, the record is sealed, the land mark is removed and a mound marks its resting place in the little churchyard at Aldenville. The most of the family is gone, only two sons Seymour and Warren remain. His wife survives him; for over sixty years they trod the path of life together, up, up the rugged hill not always strewn with roses, halting on the summit, down, down its shady side to the stream that divides the known from the unknown, he has passed over, she has launched her boat, we can almost hear the dip of the golden oars and she too will soon be on the other shore."

"Charles settled each of his five sons on a farm, but the farms were at least five miles apart 'so the sons would remain good friends', or so it is said. Charles bought the first piano ever to come into Susquehanna County for his daughter - and it was mahogany. Probably because of the weight of the piano, it has remained in the same house ever since - presently in the home of Lee Summers, in Gibson, it is supposed.

"Charles' daughter was the one and only, and attended a girls' finishing school in Montrose. She came home on vacation, and the next morning she did not come down to breakfast, and Charles went up to call her and found her dead in bed - only 21 years old."[220]

J.[58] Anna Cox, her mother, was a daughter of William Cox. "Cousins have attempted to find records of the Cox family at Hull and learned they were destroyed in a fire. Bombings would have completed the loss undoubtedly."

Whitten Kidd was a merchant and brought his family to N. Y. City. Anna Tingley often told of the trip taking months in a sailing vessel. During the trip she was at the age when she was attempting to walk but the water was so rough that she became afraid and was much longer in learning.

The George H. Tingley family lived in Brooklyn and Morrisania, a part of N. Y. City, and finally moved to Rahway, N. J., the summer home of the Kidd family[201]. George and Anna, with their three deceased daughters, Georgiana, Bell, and Jennie, are buried in Hazelwood Cem. at Rahway.

Forbush, at Attleboro, Mass.[12], Nancy, daughter of and ( ) Bliss, of Attleboro, Mass., born July , 1806, at Attleboro, Mass.[12]; died Oct. , 1890, at [24]; both are buried in the Baptist Churchyard at Raynham, Mass. He was a former minister there; Elder of the Baptist Church[24].

"Timothy studied at Brown University and was graduated from the Newton Theological Institution in 1831. He was ordained at Foxboro, Mass., July 14, 1831, where he was pastor until 1837. He was afterwards pastor in Boston from 1837-38; at West Cambridge from 1838-45; at Canton from 1845-48; at Sheldonville from 1848-1851; at West Boylston from 1851-54; at Holden from 1854-57; at Sciuate from 1857-64; at Somerset from 1864-69; at Quidneck, R. I. from 1869-75; at Raynham from 1875 until his death.

"At the time of his death and when 78 years old, he was still prosecuting his pastoral work with almost unabated ardor. Few ministers are permitted for so many years to have the physical freshness and strength with which he was favored. He belonged to the class of good men who are good everywhere and in every relation and make the world richer by a peculiar atmosphere that attends them." Sent by Bertha Tingley McFarland, apparently from the History of Holden, Mass., by David Foster Estes, p. 320.

"Elon Brown works for J. W. Allen of Rollin, Mich. On Sunday he went into the orchard to lead the bull Duke of Morenci to shelter from the storm of that day and on taking hold of the ring in the animal's nose, the bull struck him near one of his eyes with a horn, felling him to the ground. Mr. Brown maintained his hold on the ring, but as often as he tried to regain his feet the bull would push him to the ground again. Thus the struggle went on till Mr. Brown had several ribs broken. On letting go of the ring the beast tossed him clear up into an apple tree. He might have been killed had not Mr. Wade come to his assistance. Dr. Town was summoned and dressed Mr. Brown's wounds and he is doing as well as can be expected." (from Hudson, Mich. Gazette, dated Apr. 27, 1882.)

May 4th paper stated "Elon Brown is able to be around."

Y.[119] Lucy is buried in the Brown Cemetery in the Brown District off Munson Hwy., near Hudson, Mich. He married third, Jan. 17, 1868, Mrs. Eleanor Brown.

"Noah Cressey had traveled many states and territories of this country and passed through many dangers. He served in the late war as a soldier, in Co. F 4th Regt. Mich. Vols., but health failed and he received honorable discharge after some 16 months service. He had for many years made Mich. his home where he was called to suffer afflictions in the death of two companions. About eight years since he married Mrs. Eleanor Brown, his third wife, with whom he lived till his death; and she survives him. He also leaves several children, some of whom were living with him and stood by his side in his last hours. Two daughters in Michigan; one in Wisconsin and a son in Calif. were not present at his death. He also leaves several older brothers, one of whom was providentially with him at time of his death, although some 20 years his senior and in feeble health, he made a long journey from the east, just in time to see him here.

Little over two years since he came to Marion, N. Y., purchased and fitted a home for the remainder of his days. Several years since he became a member of the M. E. Church, but not connected with any since his residence here. Funeral services on the 19th at Christian Church in Marion, conducted by Rev. Irvin Bullock, the Pastor, assisted by pastors of three other churches of this place."[119]

H.; died , 1913, at [177].

From an old copy of the Gazette: "Some three score of neatly printed billets were sent out and this was the invitation they bore: SILVER WEDDING ----- Wm. Brown and Miss Sarah F. Ames, May 20th, 1847 --- Mr. & Mrs. Wm. B. Brown, at home, Mon. May 20th, 1872, 2 P.M. Perhaps they found it difficult to put it down for a fact that 25 years had been marked upon the record of time since they, within the sight of this very place, but amidst other scenes, began their wedded life. This was still a new country then, their dwelling was composed of logs, their acres to plow and sow increased, etc., etc., twenty-five years brought children, and a host of connections to the Browns and Ameses -- count the sands of the sea! There were 80 present by actual count and all but seven were in some way connected with these two families. We must mention that the assemblage comprised several of the very earliest settlers of this country, namely Henry and Charles Ames and Alpheus Pratt. The first of these remarked that he felled the first tree in Hudson on Jan. 1, 1833, thirty-nine years ago. Rev. Richards offered prayer. Mr. Schermerhorn (the editor) presented gifts: first from sister Lizz to Sarah, a fine large photo of Mrs. Brown's father which reminded all, that there were four generations in line on either side, etc., etc. Letters read by relatives unable to be present: Charles Pratt, Esq. of Toledo, Ohio, Dr. C. P. Brown of Spring Lake, Mich.

William and Abbie Ames, Utica Centre, Wis., Mrs. S. M. Roberts, Colrain, Mass. and Miss J. T. Ames, Hudson."[119]

07-00059-01 SAMUEL SIMPSON TINGLEY[8] (John[7], Josiah[6], Josiah[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of La Conner, Wash., born Feb. 12, 1836, at Violet Brook, Aroostook Co., Me.[94]; died , 1913, at ; married first, Sep. 5, 1867, by Geo. F. Whitewirth, Minister, at Portland, Ore.[183], Maria Azubah, daughter of W. H. and Azubah (Brown) Kinney, of , born Feb. 19, 1842, at Canastota, N. Y.; died Mar. , 1874, at La Conner, Wash., (drowned and her infant son with her - body was not found). She was a school teacher[184]; married second, Oct. 25, 1876, by Daniel Bagley, Minister, at home of minister, Seattle, Wash.[185], Elizabeth Mahaley, daughter of Dr. Herman and Elizabeth (Easterbrook) Knapp, of , (widow of Taylor, with one son, Warren) born , 1840, at , Pa.; died , at home, Day Creek, Wash. (pneumonia); both are buried in Lyman Cemetery, Skagit Co., Wash. His first two children were the first white children born in Skagit Co.[94] He was a ship carpenter, farmer and stock raiser. He received a land grant in Grand Falls, N.B., probably because it was near his father.

As related in a Biographical Record of Skagit Co., Wash. and sent by Weaver Jones: "SAMUEL SIMPSON TINGLEY, farmer and stock raiser, located across the river from Lyman, is one of the very earliest settlers of Skagit county and a man who has had a remarkably active career. Mr. Tingley was born at Violet Brook, Aroostook county, Maine, Feb. 12, 1836, the son of John C. Tingley, native of New Brunswick. He became a farmer and shipbuilder in the Pine Tree State, whence in later years he removed to Skagit county, and he died in Skagit City in 1896. The elder Tingley had three brothers in the battle of Lundy's Lane, in the War of 1812, one of whom was on the side of the British. Mrs. Sophia (Boline) Tingley, mother of Samuel, was also a native of Maine. Samuel S. Tingley lived on the home place until ten years of age, when he was bound out to learn the trade of machinist. He worked two years in the shop, then spent a like period on a boat, learning to handle steam; then he shipped for deep water work, and in 1859 was on Puget Sound helping to build the revenue cutter, I. I. Stevens. After working a year and a half, he started home in 1861 to attend a military school, and while on his way fell in with the Tenth Maine Infantry at Eastport en route to the front for service in the Civil War. The ardor of young Tingley was so fired that he at once enlisted in the command. A short time later, in company with some 400 others, he was transferred to the engineer corps and he continued in that line of duty and in the secret service until the close of the war. After spending some time in Pennsylvania he came around the Horn on the old Continental, and landed at San Francisco, later coming to Puget Sound on the George Washington, and going to Port Orchard, where he was engaged in shipbuilding. In 1867 Mr. Tingley went to the mouth of the Skagit River, on the south side of the north fork, and took up a claim. Messrs. Abbott and Sartwell were the only men on the south fork at that time, though up by La Conner were Mike Sullivan and Sam Calhoun, both of whom had some land diked in. Mr. Tingley went to diking, soon had a small farm in cultivation, and lived there until, in 1879, the Ruby Creek excitement lured him away. In the winter of 1880-1 he came to Mount Vernon, built a blacksmith shop and moved his family to that town. Three years later he came up to his present place, which he had taken in 1880 while timber cruising for Clothier & English, and commenced clearing and raising stock. Mr. Tingley has done considerable logging and has also been in demand for building ferries, having had a hand in the construction of nearly every boat of that character on the river. His experience in the army engineer corps also makes him almost indispensable in raising boats which sink on the Skagit.

"In 1867, at Portland, Oregon, Mr. Tingley married Miss Maria Kinney, a native of Canastota, N. Y. She was one of the seventy-five school teachers who came around the Horn through the influence of A. S. Mercer in behalf of the schools of the Northwest in 1867. It so happened that Mr. Tingley met her on the trip of the Continental coming to San Francisco on the same boat. Mrs. Tingley died in 1874, leaving two children, Ida and Oliver. The present Mrs.

Tingley was born in Pennsylvania in 1840, the daughter of Dr. Herman and Elizabeth (Easterbrook) Knapp, and received an excellent education, not the least part of which was a thorough knowledge of the use of drugs and medicine. Mrs. Tingley was a widow at the time of her marriage to Mr. Tingley and had one son, Warren Taylor. She had come west in 1872. To Mr. and Mrs. Tingley have been born five children: Mary Elizabeth, graduate of the Whatcom Normal School and for six years a school teacher; Hiram B., Henry, Martha now acting matron of the Sedro-Woolley Hospital, and Lillian, a trained nurse by profession. In fraternal circles Mr. Tingley is a Mason. In politics he is a protection Republican, sufficiently active to attend all local conventions and to serve as committeeman. The present Tingley farm consists of 200 acres, ten of which are in fine orchard. The house is a homelike structure built in Southern style, and suggestive of hospitality and comfort, with fireplace, fur rugs, literature in abundance and musical instruments of many kinds. The Tingley family is one of culture and refinement, possessing especial aptness in music. During her residence in Skagit County Mrs. Tingley has frequently been called upon to administer to the suffering and her knowledge of nursing and medicines has proven of great assistance to the settlers, especially in the early days, when no call upon her skill and sympathy went unheeded. Among the Skagit County pioneers few antedate Mr. Tingley in point of arrival, and few have been more active in affecting the many changes making for development and progress, and few are better known throughout the country."

Mr. Tingley was a person who was quick to make the most of every opportunity. Upon arriving on the islands he promptly had a ranch in operation to such an extent that whenever there was a need he had enough produce to sell and he had his ranch stocked with pigs, chickens, horses and cows. Of course, Bertha, his third wife, was a very capable helper, which eased Mr. Tingley's work on a pioneer farm.

Since Mr. Tingley had been married three times he had a very large family and was so proud of each one of his children that he did not hesitate to let that fact be known.

When his eldest son came over the following year it made two Freemans in the area. Whereupon, having listened to Freeman, Sr., talk about his children often - perhaps too often - an old timer came forth with what he thought would be a very appropriate way of avoiding any confusion between the two Freemans. He called him "Stud". Mr. Tingley took it good naturedly and forever after was referred to as "Stud", by the old timers.

Like most Tingleys, Stud was a lively man and very musical. He was always ready to get out his accordion for a dance or just to have fun and raise a bit of life - stomping his feet and yelling out the whoopees.

B.; died May 12, 1934, secondary anemia from rectal bleeding, at Benton, Oregon; married first Feb. 8, 1864, by Rev. William D. Skelton, at Kane Co., Ill., Arnold, son of and (Crabtree) Wallace, of , born , at , N. B.; died Dec. 2, 1885, valvular disease of the heart and Bright's disease, at Dows, Wright Co., Iowa; buried Dec. 3, 1885, at Dows, Ia.; married second Dec. 10, 1890, by Rev. H. B. Turk, at Vernon Center, Ia., as his second wife, George H., son of Orin and Charlet (Brown) Palmer, of , born , 1842, at , Ind.; died Nov. 7, 1926, at Pasadena, Calif. No children by Palmer, a farmer.

Arnold B. Wallace enlisted Sep. 11, 1861, at St. Charles, Ill., as private in Co. A, 8th Regt. Ill. Vol. Cav. and was discharged Dec. 31, 1863; also served from Jan. 1, 1864 to July 17, 1865, as Corporal in Co. A, 8th Regt. Ill. Vol. Cav. and was discharged July 17, 1865, at Benton Barracks, Mo. While in service, he was thrown from his horse on two different occasions causing injury to his back and hands. It was thought this might have caused his death, but the report said, "No!" that he died from Bright's disease. After the Civil War, he came to Iowa and resided near Dows. They adopted many orphans, one was a Fred Reed, a small child of her cousin Reed. Information came from Bette Fillmore and from his pension file, mostly the latter. He drew pension and after George Palmer's death Cynthia drew pension, XC 896946[131].

His death came suddenly - Board of Health in Florida states that he was aged 75y 3m 28d, from nerve prostration and cerebral inflammation - result of gunshot wounds received in Civil War (died at Lynn Haven, Sep. 22, 1915 at 10 P.M.).

In his pension file, the following poem, composed and written by Col. D. H. Fillmore for the readers of the Lynn Haven Tribune, was found and is reproduced here:

An Inspiration from the West Side

Depths of Mercy, can it be
Mercy still reserved for me,
God's free grace, so freely given,
To lead us on to the gate of heaven?

When Saint Peter saw us coming,
To open the gate he quickly came running,
"I have looked so long," he said, "for you,
Now I'll open the gate that you may pass through."

Then the gate was opened, and soon we trod
Up the golden streets to the throne of God:
Glory and honor and power divine
Seemed to fill all heaven with the sublime.

As we passed up the street, how grand to behold
    The shepherd that was leading his sheep to the fold;
With steps strong and steady, he feared no alarm,
    While he tenderly bore the lambs in his arms.

Then onward through myriads of Angels we trod,
    Up to the river that flows from the throne of God,
And there on the banks of the River of Life
    For we were cleansed from all sin, discord and strife.

Then with loud hallelujahs again and again,
    Our praise went up for the Lamb that was slain,
Saving glory and honor to Him Who hath saved
    And redeemed us from death, and the power of the grave.

Perfection is reached and death is destroyed,
    And with Angels we then did appear;
Temptations and trials no longer annoyed,
    As we met with our loved ones so dear.

"Dear Father," He said, "these are mine and thine,
    I bring them all to Thee,
For with my blood I purchased them
    On the cross of Calvary.

"For them I conquered death
    And overcame man's fall
And made it possible for them to reign
    At Thy command and call."

"'Tis well, My Son," Jehovah said,
    "Thy work has well been done,
Without the ransom Thou hast paid
    Tc me they ne'er could come.

"Perfection here is the estate,
    Sin here could find no place,
Could never pass that golden gate
    When man had run his race.

"By this it was the plan
    To save man's fallen race,
That with the Angels they might stand,
    And see us face to face.

"'Tis well Thy voice they did obey,
    And put the armor on,
That they might dwell in endless day,

With Thee and Me, My Son."

B.; died Sep. 22, 1873, at Yale, B. C. and was buried Oct. 27, 1873, in Sackville, N. B. "Body was apparently put in a lead casket and transported from Yale by river steamboat to New Westminster, thence by ship to Victoria, from there by ship to San Francisco, by rail across to Boston, by ship to Halifax and by the old intercolonial railway into Sackville for burial." (by Willard Ireland, Provincial Archivist); married second, June 11, 1877, by Rev. G. Murray, at Lytton, B. C., Pauline Louise, daughter of Frank and ( ) Lewmeister, of Williams Creek, B. C., born , 1856, at San Francisco, Calif.; died Dec. 26, 1946, aged 90 yrs., at Vancouver, B. C. (at home), the body was cremated. At time of his death, Steve was a member of A. F. and A. M.

Stephen went to Yale, B. C., in 1861; drove old mail stage coach with a team of six horses over the old Cariboo Road, considered the best "whip" in B. C. In 1876, he had the honor of driving Lord Dufferin over the road. He retired in 1897 and lived for many years in Ashcroft, B. C.

An account as related by Alex Tingley (Stephen's nephew) from North Battleford, Sask., sent to Herman Fillmore of Penobsquis, N. B., is repeated here (it was also published in the Sackville, N. B. paper, dated Mar. 7, 1963):

"My knowledge of Uncle Steve Tingley's early life is from what others have told me as most of it happened before I was born. Uncle Steve when a young man learned and worked at the harness makers trade in Upper Sackville.

"When gold was discovered in California he went to that country by way of Cape Horn. When the Cariboo gold rush started in the late forties or early fifties he left there and went to B. C. When the Cariboo Wagon Road was built he worked for the Barnard Express Co., who started a stage line and operated from Yale to Barkerville. He returned to Sackville, married Elizabeth Harper and took her with him back to B. C.

"The accident that took his wife's life happened on the Cariboo Road near Yale. He was driving a two-horse vehicle with his wife and young son in his mother's arms. The horses shied at something on the inner side of the road and threw the rig over the steep bank. They were the only occupants of the rig.

"Neither Steve nor the child were injured. Much of that part of the Cariboo Road is nothing more than a shelf around the mountain or was in those days. The object that the horses shied at was a wheelbarrow left on the wrong side of the road by the repairmen. You have the account of his return to Sackville with the remains for burial with the dates from the gravestone."

At Four Corners Cemetery, among many other Tingleys, we find a stone with the following inscription:

"Erected by Stephen Tingley
In memory of his beloved Wife Elizabeth:
Died at Fort Yale, B. C.
Sept. 22, 1873, interred at
Sackville, Oct. 27th, 1873
Aged 33 years."

Alex again: "After Steve's return to B. C. he kept on with the Barnard Express. Uncle Steve married again and had two daughters from that marriage. I can't remember Aunt Pauline's maiden name.

"There were two sons from the first marriage. Uncle Steve afterward bought into the Barnard Express and the name was changed to the B. C. Express Co. He afterward became sole owner of that company and operated the stage line until he sold out to a Toronto company in 1897 and retired.

"After the C.P.R. was built which cut off the wagon road between Yale and Ashcroft his headquarters were at Ashcroft where he lived. After his retirement he moved with his family to Vancouver where he lived until his death."

The story as told by a columnist in 1954: "Victoria was deeply shocked in Sept. 1873 when they read: 'Yale -- yesterday as Mr. Tingley and family were returning from a buggy ride his horses took fright at a wheelbarrow standing on the road at the bluff just above the town and threw themselves over the bank, dragging the buggy and occupants with them.

"Mrs. Tingley was very badly hurt about the head and later died. Mr. Tingley and the boy escaped with some cuts about the head, but none of them are severely injured enough to cause apprehension.

"One of the horses was killed and the buggy very much broken and it was swept away by the river as soon as the fastenings to the dead animal were cut away. It is thought that had it not been for the death of one horse, the whole party would have been swept away..."

During one of his visits to Victoria, Steve Tingley met the daughter of a prominent family and in June of 1877: "At Lytton - by Rev. G. Murray, Mr. S. Tingley of Yale and Miss Pauline Lewmeister were married. Her father was a merchant of Williams Creek, Frank Lewmeister.

"At age 19 Steve Tingley set out by way of Panama for San Francisco, where he arrived in 1858.

"In 1876 Tingley had the honor of driving Lord Dufferin in a light wagon over a road, which, through difficulties surmounted, was celebrated throughout the world.

"Lord Dufferin said he never enjoyed a drive so much, as the one over which Tingley was the whip. Being exceedingly well informed about the province, the road over which they were traveling and the people who dwelt in different sections, Tingley was, besides being an excellent whip, just the man to whom Lord Dufferin, eager for information, could turn to obtain it on any subject in connection with the province.

"Tingley was a prince among raconteurs!

"The fastest time which Mr. Tingley ever made over the road was a special mission in connection with the court. On this occasion his vehicle carried four passengers.

"The distance traveled was 380 miles, and the time taken was 30 hours."

Corrections on letter from Alex by Hall Tingley: "Steve Tingley went to California not via Cape Horn, but rather via the Isthmus of Panama in 1857 - not during Calif. Gold Rush. He spent one year there and came on up to B. C. in 1858." Steve put the first stage coach on the line after name was changed to B. C. Express Co.

At the time of the disappearance of this little family much speculation went on. The compiler has heard various stories or theories presented. It seems that after James found himself without his entire family, he had the river dragged in search of them. It is doubtful that he ever knew or learned just what became of his family. Under cover of darkness, late one night, she had her baggage hauled to the railroad station in Sackville. The man who hauled their baggage was sworn to secrecy. No one really knew where they had gone but Roger Tingley has stated that his father helped them to get across his farm along a back road to the railroad station very late one night. Even he did not know where they were going but it was thought that they went to the United States and changed their name.

At any rate, their secrecy was complete, no one found where they had gone until Helen Arnold Bollons sent this little note to the compiler, "Our grandmother, Lucy Ann Tingley-McInnes, left our grandfather for personal reasons and came West, about 1888, to the end of the steel with her six small children, aged two years to 11 years of age. She changed her name and theirs to Arnold, founding the Arnold family as we know it. How she managed, is in itself a saga. Her lace petticoats were made into curtains for the first little house she had on the bald prairie. Enough to say she brought up a fine group of people.

"None of us knew whether or not she legalized the name, but all of her grandchildren, and great grandchildren, feel that they belong to the Arnold Family which she founded."

And so, that is the story of the disappearance of the brave McInnes Family who vanished from New Brunswick.

Upon graduation from Asbury College in 1850, he was appointed instructor at the Indiana Deaf & Dumb Asylum; after two years service there he continued his profession as Principal of Greencastle Collegiate Female Seminary; Professor of Mathematics and Science, New Wesleyan Female College; Professor of Science, Baldwin University; Professor of Science, Cleveland Military School; Professor of Physics and Chemistry, Allegheny College, here he remained 23 years during which time, through his efforts, the scope of his department was broadened and greatly improved by the equipment of laboratories with the latest scientific apparatus. In 1888 he came to Pittsburgh to fill the chair of Chemistry in Western Pennsylvania Medical College and at the same time he entered the Allegheny High School as Teacher of Science. For eleven years he filled both positions then devoted his entire time to the High School as Teacher of Science. In 1907 at the age of 81 years, he was elected Professor Emeritus of Chemistry and Physics, but still continued teaching for several years. A real progressive, he built up his department in every school in which he served. A splendid mind, he imparted his knowledge most clearly and forcefully. A fine and beautiful character, he was beloved by all who came in contact with him; a Ph. D. and LL. D. His wife was buried in Cadiz, Ohio, according to her death certificate and no doubt Jeremiah is buried there also, since Cadiz was his birthplace[58].

Bloom could be to this same Samuel Tingley; married second, license issued Nov. 14, 1872 at Clark Co.[263], married Nov. 19, 1872, at Christian Church, Yellow Springs, Ohio[114], Mary Elizabeth, daughter of William and Lucy (Barr) Ritter of Clark Co., Ohio, born Aug. 15, 1849, at Fredericksburg, Va.; died Sep. 7, 1910, at London, Ohio; buried Sep. 9, 1910 in Wilson Chapel Cemetery, at Clark County, Ohio[271]. His daughter, Leona Gay Brewer, thought her father was born May 25, 1844, but she was not sure.

At age 93, Samuel Tingley was a contestant in the "old fiddler's" concert. At age 7, his first violin was made from a box - he played in the attic where no one would hear him. He was given a real violin at age 14 years and later he acquired a Stradivarius violin made in 1736, which he still possessed and played in his 90's. (Taken from a newspaper clipping sent in 1963 by his daughter, Leona Gay).

NOTE--According to marriage records in Greene Co. Courthouse, at Xenia, Ohio, Samuel Tingley married Catherine Cox Feb. 27, 1863. This Samuel was born in Greene Co. and he married Mary Elizabeth Ritter, his second wife (as stated above) in Greene Co. It is quite possible that he was the Samuel who married Catherine Cox. In Greene Co. Memorial Hospital his death record gives his age as 98 years. No record has been found which can prove his exact age or his date of birth.

Cemetery record gives Jane E.'s death as Mar. 16, 1859; records for her two youngest sisters are filed in Lenawee Co. Courthouse, Adrian, Mich. Joanna 08 was a resident of Jefferson Twp., Hillsdale Co., Mich.; Mary A. 07 was a resident of Manitou Beach, buried at Rollin Center[119].

"Among the brave and adventurous spirits who cast their lot with the pioneers of Southern Mich. while it was yet a territory, John H. Tingley was one of the most enterprising and courageous, and located first in Adrian Twp., in 1833, taking up 240 acres of government land. This he sold a year later, and purchased the land which in 1888 was occupied by his brother Samuel, on section 11. Upon this he labored two or three years, then turned it over to his father and brother, and coming into Rollin Twp. purchased 180 acres, all wild land as had been his purchases before. Upon this he remained continuously since that time, embracing a period of over fifty years. He tilled the soil to good advantage, and gathered around him all the accessories of a comfortable and convenient home, including a commodious residence, a good barn, stables, sheds and all other necessary out-buildings, and stocked the farm with good grades of domestic animals.

"The labors of Mr. Tingley, like those of hundreds around him, were carried on patiently and perseveringly, and in the results he has little of which to complain. In addition to his own immediate interests, to which he has necessarily given the most of his time and attention, he found opportunity to interest himself in the welfare of the people around him, and because of his ability and honesty was frequently chosen by them to represent their interests in the various township offices. The establishment of schools and churches ever found in him a cheerful and ready helper, and will remain as monuments to his public spirit and generosity long after he shall have been gathered to his fathers.

"After becoming comfortably established in Rollin Twp. John married one of the most estimable young ladies, Miss Polly Lamb, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride in the spring of 1837.

"Mr. Tingley cast his first Presidential vote with the Whig party, and continued with that party until 1856, after which time he supported the principles of the republicans.

"Mrs. Tingley is a lady unusually charitable, kind and hospitable, and with her two daughters, is an active worker in the Ladies' Missionary Society."[119]

Lamb Gen. reports: Polly was born Aug. 12, 1821 in N. Y. State[119].

07-00158-06 SAMUEL TINGLEY[8] (Samuel[7], Daniel[6], Ebenezer[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Adrian, Mich., born May 12, 1818, at Ovid, N. Y.; died Mar. 27, 1895, at Adrian, Mich.[273], aged 76y 10m 15d, old age[119]; married , 1844, at , Joanna Engle 07-00157-12, daughter of Jacob and Jane (Tingley) Engle, of Schoharie Co., N. Y. (Jacob was born in Germany), born Oct. 27, 1821, at Schoharie Co., N. Y.; died Aug. 23, 1883, aged 60y 9m 26d, at home in Adrian, Mich.[119]; both are buried in Adrian Twp., Mich. Samuel came with his parents in 1833 via Detroit; at the death of his father young Samuel was left in charge of the family and remained with his widowed mother several years. When the time came for the settlement of the estate, he purchased the interest of the other heirs, and has since been in possession of the homestead. He has effected all the improvements now upon it, which comprise a set of good frame buildings, neat and substantial fences, and all the other adjuncts necessary to the successful prosecution of agriculture. The home is very comfortable and attractive, and is a forcible reminder of the perseverance and industry of the proprietor. He made agriculture a study.

"Samuel Tingley, Jr. farmed for success and profit, and made a competence for himself and family by his energy, intelligence and close attention. His father died when he was about 20 years old, and he at once assumed the responsibility of taking care of the family and clearing up the farm, which consisted of 240 acres on section II, Adrian, 160 of which was taken up from the government by Samuel Tingley, Sr. Samuel, Jr. cleared and fenced the land, built the buildings and made a success of the great undertaking. He ever after lived on this farm, where he died Mar. 27, 1895 after residing there for about sixty years." From Illustrated History and Biographical Record of Lenawee Co., Mich. by John I. Knapp and R. I. Bonner - The Times Printing Co., Adrian, Mich. 1903, and sent by Elaine Pibbles.

07-00158-08 NANCY TINGLEY - TREAT[8] (Samuel[7], Daniel[6], Ebenezer[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Adrian Twp., Lenawee Co., Mich., born Oct. 1, 1826, at Romulus, Seneca Co., N. Y.; died June 30, 1847, at homestead in Adrian Twp.; married Apr. 15, 1840, at , Butler, son of Hosea and Hannah (Bonfuoy) Treat, of , born May 15, 1818, at Holland Patent,

N. Y.; died Nov. 30, 1879, at Adrian, Mich., typhoid fever[119]; he married second in 1849, Lucinda Anna Euritt and third, Mar. 6, 1861, Maryette Vedder; he was a farmer, one of the most prominent of Adrian Twp.; died Sunday morning of typhoid fever. He was one of the wealthiest farmers in the county, an active, earnest democrat and a pioneer resident. (Hudson Gazette, dated Dec. 5, 1879[119].)

Mr. Treat's father died before he was a year old, and he lived for a few years with his oldest brother, Asahel B. Treat. When about 16 years old the family removed from N. Y. to Mich., and settled in Adrian Twp., about 5 miles north of what is now the city. He lived with his mother, who had married Obadiah Platt for her second husband, till he was married. He purchased 40 acres of new land in Adrian, which was then a wilderness, and was obliged to cut a road half a mile long to get to his land. This small farm was in due time increased to 260 acres with good buildings attached. His life was above reproach; he was possessed of sound judgment, and was an honorable citizen, an esteemed friend, and a kind neighbor. See: History and Biographical Record of Lenawee Co., Mich.

Butler Treat built up a good homestead from the uncultivated land, where he spent the remainder of his days, his death taking place Nov. 30, 1879. He had been married three times, and became the head of a family including twelve children, three by the first wife, four by the second and five by the third, the whole including three daughters and nine sons, who present the remarkable spectacle of a group still unbroken by the hand of death. The most of them are married and located principally in this state.

This record was also checked against the Genealogy of the Treat Family by John Harvey Treat, Pub. 1893, p. 401.

"John Beers Tingley, a progressive and prominent farmer of Dublin Twp., Mercer Co., Ohio, was born in Hamilton Co., eleven miles from Cincinnati, Apr. 15, 1825. He is a son of William and Eliza (Conklin) Tingley, the former of whom was born in Delaware Co., N. Y. in 1803. [Note by Lola T. Dudgeon: This date 1803, we know is wrong - I think it was only a guess by John B.]. The father of William Tingley [Lola's note: this was Jonathan] was a native of New York and was a farmer and weaver by occupation. His family consisted of five children now all deceased. William Tingley was reared on a farm, educated in New York and came to Ohio with his father. He carried on farming and was also a school teacher, one of the first in Ohio and the first at Williamsburg, Clermont County. William's father bought a farm and followed farming and weaving as a living. He lived upon his farm until his death. He was a member of the Christian or Disciples' Church, as was also his wife, who died on the farm in Clermont County. After the lapse of several years but while William Tingley was a young man, he went to Hamilton County, where he followed farming and teaching, and married Eliza Conkling, who was born in Hamilton County.

"After his marriage William Tingley lived on his farm in Hamilton Co. and there taught school and carried on his farming operations as long as he was able to do so. He was a Democrat in politics, and held the office of Justice of the Peace for a number of years. Both he and his wife were members of the Swedenborg Church, she dying in 1877 and he in 1892. [Lola's note: Here he has her death date off by 2 years and William's by one year]." Taken from: History of Mercer and Van Wert Cos., Ohio by A. W. Bowen, pub. 1896, p. 576[124].

Inf. and was discharged at Louisville, Ky., as of Co. H 33 Ind. Inf. to which he was transferred June 10, 1865, a private[131]; buried in Marshall Cemetery.

Nettie Clouse, a grand niece, age 27 in May 1920 and blind in 1921, also received pension[131]. Flora Bell Walls cared for her uncle after his wife (her aunt) died. The pension file states that she was his foster child. She applied for pension after her uncle died but pension was denied.

In the marriage book #3, page 350, it states "Nettie E. Tingley (born in 1892 in Clark Co., to Flora Walls and Samuel Tingley), married Oct. 19, 1918, by J. A. Sweet, Minister, at Marshall, Ill., Carl H., son of Jos. and (Sanders) Tapscott." It is possible that Samuel married his niece but it was not recorded. Also, it is possible that the Nettie Clouse who received pension was not the daughter Nettie, of Flora Walls and Samuel Tingley but both Netties were born in 1892 and why would a grand niece receive pension based on her great uncle's Civil War service? Can anyone enlighten the compiler, please? Also, whose daughter was she, since she was a grand niece? These records should be clarified so her line can be continued in these records.

The above Nettie E., daughter of Flora Bell Walls and Samuel Tingley who married Carl H. Tapscott is herewith numbered as a child, 01, of Samuel Tingley and her family will appear in the next generation as 09-01372.

Y.; died Nov. 19, 1872, consumption, at Springfield Twp.[289], Ohio (Marriage Records 1835-1866, Lucas Co., Ohio, gives her name as Jane Fidelia Barman and the date as Oct. 13, 1850, but descendants think it is Bowerman); married second , 1875, at , Louisa Jane, daughter of and ( ) Tuidor, of , widow of Snyder, born June 22, 1845, at Morrow

Co., Ohio; died Aug. 3, 1930, at Delta, Fulton Co., Ohio, cancer of the uterus, aged 85y 1m 10d[272]; buried with Hiram in Greenlawn Cemetery. Hiram was a retired farmer; he came to Lucas County after his father died, at age 16 years, with two men and a 2-horse wagon. He had four sisters, but no records have been found for them. The entire family disappeared from the census record for Lycoming Co. by 1850 when it was hoped their names would be learned. They either moved away or married so the name was no longer Tingley. Even their mother was gone from the census record in 1850; maybe she remarried but no way to trace the women from those early days; she may have died; no record found.

07-00189-01 EBENEZER STANSBERRY KINKADE[8] (Nancy[7], Lemuel[6], Nathaniel[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of Shelby Co., Ind., Stark Co., Ill., and Clark Co., Mo., born July 27, 1827, near Woodsfield, Ohio; died Apr. 26, 1905, at Waterloo, Clark Co., Mo.; married first June 14, 1851, at , Sarah Eleanor, daughter of Rev. Charles Frank and Catherine (McCanse) Spillman, of Shelby Co., Ind., born Nov. 18, 1830, at , Ind.; died Apr. 17, 1875, at Peakesville, Clark Co., Mo.; buried side by side with Mary Cronin, first wife of David Kinkade, a brother to Ebenezer, in the Village Cemetery, at Peakesville, Mo. Her father was a pioneer preacher of Christian Church in Southern Indiana; her mother was an Irish immigrant. Ebenezer married second, , 1876, at , Rosana, daughter of and ( ) Green, of , widow of Lewis, with two daughters, Ida May (1868-) and Emma (1873-), born , 1828, at ; died , 1910, at Warsaw, Ill. She is buried with her husband, in the old Tumble Down Cemetery at Waterloo, Clark Co., Ill. She had no children by Kinkade but she had two stepchildren from her previous marriage: Rose Lewis, who married Clint Alton, and Warner Lewis, both of whom resided at Keokuk, Iowa.

"Ebenezer Stansberry Kinkade was the first to bear two given names entirely foreign to Kinkade nomenclature. His mother, Ann Tingley, bestowed upon him the name Ebenezer, long-honored by the Tingleys. The founder of the New Jersey branch of the family was the first Ebenezer Tingley, and every generation since him has had from one to a dozen Ebenezers. When Ann Tingley cast her lot with Andrew Kinkade in the depths of the Ohio wilderness, she bestowed Tingley names upon three of her sons, and Ebenezer was the first of these. The name, we are told, means 'a stone to succour', which, coupled with the traditional meaning of the name Kinkade, 'head of the rock' certainly gave young Ebenezer a substantial name to start with.

"His middle name, Stansberry, came from the Kinkade side of the house. Robert Kinkade, a much admired cousin of Andrew's belonging to the Virginia branch of the family, married a beautiful and popular girl named Sarah Stansberry, in March before Ebenezer was born. Andrew named his first-born son Stansberry in honor of this popular member of the family. Since E. S. K., Sr. first saw light of day, there have been many Ebenezers and Stansberries among the Kinkades.

"In 1850, E. S. Kinkade removed to Shelby Co., Ind. where he met Sarah Eleanor Spillman, oldest daughter of Charles Frank Spillman and Catherine McCanse.

"E. S. Kinkade and family removed from Shelby Co., Ind. to Stark Co., Ill. where he farmed along the Spoon River and was neighbor to Elisha Dixom's family. He occupied the Spoon River farm near Toulon in 1855.

"In 1869 he removed to Sanduskey, Iowa, where his son James was born in 1870. After which event he moved on into Sweet Home Twp., Clark Co., Mo., on the Des Moines River. Here on a farm near Peakesville he resided until after the death of his wife Sarah. The following year, 1876, he removed to Waterloo, the County Seat of Clark Co., where he resided until his death."[136] See also reference 293. He was a marble cutter.

07-00189-02 DAVID KINKADE[8] (Nancy[7], Lemuel[6], Nathaniel[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]), of South Hutchinson, Kansas, born Mar. 16, 1830, at Marietta, Ohio; died July 30, 1890, at South Hutchinson, Kansas; married first , 1850, at , Mary, daughter of Joseph and Lavina (Tingley?) Cronin, of , born Apr. 16, 18 , at Marietta, Ohio; died Oct. 4, 1860, at Peakesville, Mo., in childbirth, and is buried side by side with Sarah Spillman, first wife of Ebenezer Kinkade, at Peakesville, Mo.[136]; married second, , 1865, at Peakesville, Clark Co., Mo., Maria, daughter of and ( ) Rickey, of , widow of Elston, born , 1845, at Toulon, Ill.; died , at [136].

"David served 3 years and 6 months with the Mo. Vol. Co. E 7th Mo. Cav. He was captured by the enemy and served about six months in Andersonville prison, when his diet was rice, and his drinking water had to be collected from horse tracks. He received a wound in the jaw in the Battle of Gettysburg.

"The author remembers hearing of one escapade in which Uncle Dave participated in the Civil War. His troop was skirmishing through Southern Missouri. He and two other cavalrymen discovered a camp of sleeping rebels. Their arms were stacked and their sentry was sleepy too. They surprised him, captured, bound and gagged him without permitting an outcry, then the three of them crept into camp. Uncle Dave stood over the stacked arms, horse pistols trained on the sleeping rebels, while the other two awoke the camp, secured the scattering weapons they found, and duly made the southerners their prisoners.

Lt. Jacob Broadwell, a Revolutionary soldier, was a son of Josiah[124].

From Joseph Stearns' pension file #S33713: Joseph Stearns, private, resident of Tewksbury, County of Middlesex, Mass. states that he served in the Revolution - enlisted in 1781 for three years. Entered service in March 1781 in Captain Moore's Co. 4th Regt. of Mass. Line under Col. Shepard but afterwards under Col. Jackson, served therein until sometime in June 1783 after the war and was honorably discharged at New Windsor, N. Y. but lost his discharge papers.

Josiah Stearns vouched for his statement Apr. 4, 1818 when he was age 58, had three children under age 21 years, and a wife, and was very poor - needed his pension. He received $8 per month beginning Sept. 26, 1818.

Two types of numbers will be found in this book. One, the family number, consists of seven digits. An example is 08-00472, where the 08 indicates that the family is of the eighth generation and the 00472 indicates that it is the 472nd family of that generation. The second type of number, the number of an individual as a child, consists of nine digits. An example is 07-00126-05, where the 07 indicates that the individual is a child of a seventh generation family, the 00126 indicates that the individual is a child of the 126th family of that generation, and the 05 indicates that the individual is the fifth child of that family. Birth dates will indicate whether or not the correct sequence of the children is known (no birth date, sequence is probably unknown).

The arrangement of the book is by family numbers. Immediately preceding each family, in the center of the line, will be found the family number corresponding to that family. At the beginning of the paragraph describing a family will be found the number of the head of the family as a child. This enables one to trace a line back to the beginning, that is, back to Palmer.

Under each family those children appearing elsewhere as heads of families will have, following their birthdate, the family number of the family of which they are the head, or, if married to another Tingley descendant, that child may be the spouse in that family if not shown as the head of that family. This enables one to trace the descendants of an individual.

The numbers appearing in the index are family numbers. It will be noted that some of them have a prefix of "S". Such a number following an individual in the index indicates that person is not a Tingley descendant, but is a spouse of a Tingley descendant. Thus, COMPTON, Elizabeth S. S08-00449 was the wife of George Mundy Tingley, 07-00126-05 when he became head of family 08-00449. She is found in the paragraph just below the family number and before children are listed in the family.

When the number following an individual in the index has no S prefix that number is a family number under which the individual will be listed as a child. Thus TINGLEY, Elkanah 07-00195 is found in the seventh generation, 195th family, and is the third child shown.

To trace one's own line back to the beginning, that is, back to Palmer, one should start with his own name and the number which follows his name, in the index. For example, KINKADE, Benjamin Franklin 08-00684 will be found in 8th generation, 684th family and is the 5th child. The number after his name here, as a child, tells where he will be found as head of a family, with his wife and the children, in the next generation.

His father, at the beginning of the paragraph for family 08-00684 has a number preceding his name, 07-00189-01. This says that he was the first child in the 189th family of the 7th generation, Ebenezer Stansberry Kinkade. By looking up the 189th family of the 7th generation it will be found that Ebenezer Stansberry Kinkade's mother was Nancy (Ann) Tingley and she will be found as the sixth child in the 56th family of the sixth generation. Turning now to 6th generation, 56th family, it can be seen that her father was Lemuel Tingley 05-00011-03. Here it will also be seen that her mother was Eunice Cosad 05-00009-01, thus indicating that she was also a Tingley descendant. From here Lemuel and Eunice can each be traced back to Palmer by following the same procedure that has been followed thus far.

Perhaps it would be of interest to know how to determine the relationship of Lemuel and his wife Eunice. This particular case is simple. The 11th family of the 5th generation lists Nathaniel Tingley as head and he is the 5th child of the 4th family in the 4th generation. The ninth family of the 5th generation shows Eunice's mother to be Elizabeth Tingley, 3rd child of the 4th family in the 4th generation. Thus Eunice Cosad and Lemuel Tingley are first cousins since Eunice's mother was a sister to Lemuel's father.

To find the relationship between any two Tingley descendants, first trace each back until you find the common ancestor, and list them in pairs. The first pair will be a brother or sister relationship, next or second pair will be first cousins, third pair will be second cousins, fourth pair will be third cousins. In other words each step or generation determines the degree of cousin relationship which is always one less than the number of generations away from the common ancestor. Perhaps, the relationship wanted is between people of different generations, such as the child of one pair; if the pair are cousins, a child of one first cousin would also be a first cousin but once removed and the grandchild of a first cousin would also be a first cousin but twice removed and so on. This is one accepted method of determining relationships but, of course, there are other methods. This seems to be the simplest and most readily understood method.

Another method of locating the common ancestor is to follow the two lines of descent as given in each person's record. For example, Clifford K. Tingley 08-00516: his line of descent is (George[8], William[7], John[6], Joseph[5], Ebenezer[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]) and the line of descent of Naomi Jane Berry 08-00174 is (Tingley[8], Mary[7], Daniel[6], Josiah[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], Samuel[2], Palmer[1]). Compare the two lines beginning with Palmer and the first place they differ will show brother or sister relationship. Thus, Ebenezer[4] and Samuel[4] are brothers with Samuel[3], their father, the common ancestor. The next pair, Joseph[5] and Josiah[5] are first cousins; John[6] and Daniel[6] are second cousins; William[7] and Mary[7] are third cousins; George[8] and Tingley[8] are fourth cousins; Clifford K. and Naomi Jane are fifth cousins. But, Clifford K. is also a fourth cousin to Tingley[8], once removed and Clifford K. is third cousin to Mary[7] but twice removed, and so on.

Adopted children and their lines are given in italics.
